CHAIRMAN'S COLUMN

Amongst all the busy routine duties I am slightly lost in this job. Then I realise, going back to the basics is always a good antidote to dizziness. I fully appreciate any Chairman or his team will have exhausted 90% of their stamina in managing the complex matrix of the PSA and in co-ordinating with the school with her various projects. Chairmen for the next few terms will no doubt feel the burden of the SDP which is by far the most demanding undertaking faced by any PSA Exco. In addition, next year the International Conference will be held in Hong Kong. To add just that little to this huge machinery is slightly wonderful.

I am not an ambitious man, I have therefore set myself a humble task for 2003/04 - "Consolidation", perhaps drawing experience from real life when the entire Hong Kong is feeling the strain of the slowing economy and many of us who try to brave these difficult times find ourselves helplessly searching for the magical solution. The PSA which basically is made up of a group of Hong Kong people faces the same problems we do daily. I hope by adopting a practical approach to matters, we shall buy time, learn from it and reinforce our Wah Yan Spirit in time for the next sprint to come. In advocating so, we are trying to re-structure and strengthen the communications or the revered "Class Representatives" system.

The younger years are our future - this is an easy enough concept. I am therefore making visible efforts to greet these youngsters. I hope by allowing more participation by the young ones, they will be convinced we are about "themselves" as well after all. I shall advocate more use of our PSA website, our "Find A Wahyanite" search engine and more interactive activities to attract the 90's and the Millennium Wahyanites.

I call upon all of you who share my view that the young ones are our future to come forward and help. This chairman yours truly, honour it indeed is, glamour it most certainly is not.

Yours humbly,
Toby Lo
